

Host a Career Site Visit

CVCA students are inspired by an insider's view at Motorola.

How much did you know about your job before you accepted the position?

Did you really know what your day would look like?

How is working on a team different than you expected?

Lumity's STEM career readiness program is working to take students out of the classroom and into real-world experiences. To truly understand a job, a career and an industry, a student must experience it firsthand.

We invite you to open your doors to high school students, so that they may discover new passions and interests as they get an interactive, hands-on look at STEM in action. Share what it takes to be a member of your team, and be a catalyst to career information.

Are you ready for the challenge?

By hosting a Career Site Visit you will:

- Provide students with career experiences outside the classroom, to build upon their real world experiences and add context to their classroom curriculum.
- Provide new environments to challenge group and individual learning.
- Provide a chance for students and professionals get to know each other, ask questions and make connections.
- Introduce students to your workplace's culture.
- Allow students and teachers the opportunity to explore equipment, technology and tools not traditionally used in classrooms.
- Allow teachers to learn along with their students and closely observe the strengths of their students.
- Highlight entry-level and internship positions available at your company, now and in the future.

If you want to share your work experience with students, please send an email to Querube Della Cella at qdellacella@lumity.org or call 312.237.4201.

To learn more about Lumity's STEM career readiness program, visit www.lumity.org.

